Dear Sir,

Our Society is currently undertaking research into the evolution of aerogrammes used in this country and understand from an official list kindly supplied by the Postal authorities that your printers Verona Press Pty. Ltd. hold a licence from the Postmaster General's Department to print private aerogrammes.

The Director, Mr. R.S. Mott, of Verona Press has furnished your Company's name and address at our request as one of his clients for whom aerogrammes are printed. Would it be possible to let us have, say, three copies each of any past or present aerogramme forms printed for your company, for which we enclose a stamped addressed envelope.

Your assistance in our project will be greatly appreciated and we will, of course, be quite happy to meet any of your costs involved. If this is not in your best interests, we would appreciate the Aerogramme Licence number printed on the face. The Society is endeavouring to track down the holders of all licences issued and their numbers.

Thanking you,

Yours faithfully,

Dear Sir,

Further to my earlier letter and your kind reply of 5th April, would it be possible for you to quote me your licence number from the G.P.O. for printing aerogrammes. The Society is endeavouring to track down the holders of all licences issued and their numbers. We respect the fact that the aerogrammes printed by you are of a confidential nature but would like to know if all aerogrammes printed carry only the one licence number.

Trusting you will be able to assist us on this occasion,

My researches have lead me in your direction and I wonder if you have a spare copy of any which you had printed showing your licence number. If you have not one available perhaps you have a file copy which could be photo-copied.

Dear Mrs. Wilson,

AEROGRAMME FORMS

Thank you for your letter of 26th March.

Aerogrammes were introduced by the Bank in 1955 and, since then, various layout amendments have taken place. Copies of aerogramme forms, past and present, are enclosed for your records. The year of introduction and various changes made have been shown on the forms in pencil. Unfortunately we are unable to send you three copies as we do not hold stocks of obsolete forms.

The Bank also uses aerogramme forms for the transmission of funds to overseas banks. These forms are, of necessity, accountable and we regret that we are unable to forward specimens to you.

Two P.M.G. licences are currently held by us. Licence No. 58 covers aerogramme forms used by branches throughout Australia and licence No. 5 applies to forms used in Papua and New Guinea. In the Territory the Director of Posts and Telegraphs is independent of his counterpart in Australia.

We trust that your research programme is progressing satisfactorily and hope that we have been able to assist.

Yours sincerely,

(R.J. HENDERSON)

Dear Mrs. Wilson,

Aerogramme Licence

I am acknowledging your letter received this week, but, alas, I must tell you that our Licence No. 59, was cancelled in May 1969.

I am so sorry that we have no copies of the original aerogramme, and therefore I am unable to help you.

Yours sincerely,

Lorraine Jarrett
Executive Secretary
